Some Speeding Ticket

Two British Traffic Patrol Officers were checking for Speeding motorists on the A1, the main road from England to Scotland. One of the Officers used a hand held Radar Gun to check the speed of vehicles approaching over the crest of a hill and was surprised to clock a vehicle at over 300 mph. The Radar Gun stopped working and the officer was not able to reset it.

The Radar had locked onto a low flying NATO Fighter Jet on low flying exercises in the area. Back at Police Headquarters a Senior Officer sent off a stiff compliant to the RAF Liaison Office.

He received the following reply:

"Thank you for your letter allowing us to close the file on this incident. You may be interested to know that the Tactical Computer on board the Jet Fighter had automatically locked onto the Radar Source and sent a "Jamming" Signal back to it. Furthermore, the Sidewinder Air to Ground Missiles on the Fighter had also locked onto the Radar Gun. Fortunately the Pilot responded quickly and was able to override the automatic protection system before the missile was launched!!!!"

Apologies to my Scottish Friends

Then finally the girl looked at the boy and said, "A penny for your thoughts, Angus."

"Well, uh, I was thinkin'...perhaps it's about time for a wee kiss."

The girl blushed, then leaned over and kissed him lightly on the cheek.

Then he blushed. The two turned once again to gaze out over the loch. Minutes passed and the girl spoke again. "Another penny for your thoughts, Angus."

"Well, uh, I was thinkin' perhaps it's noo time about time for a wee cuddle."

The girl blushed, then leaned over and cuddled him for a few seconds. Then he blushed. Then the two turned once again to gaze out over the loch.

After a while, she again said, "Another penny for your thoughts, Angus." "Well, uh, I was thinkin' perhaps it's about time you let me put my hand on your leg."

The girl blushed, then took his hand and put it on her knee. Then he blushed. The two turned once again to gaze out over the loch before the girl spoke again. "Another penny for your thoughts, Angus."

The young man glanced down with a furled brow. "Well, noo," he said, "my thoughts are a wee bit more serious this time."

"Really?" said the lass in a whisper, filled with anticipation. "Aye," said the lad, nodding.

The girl looked away in shyness, began to blush, and bit her lip in anticipation of the ultimate request.

Then he said,

"Dae ye nae think it's about time ye paid me the first three pennies?"
